

How Do I Check A Horse's Show Record?

Frequently Asked Questions

- What if I want to check a show record before 2002?

The search defaults to the current time period, but if you'd like to search the 1997-2001 results, then select "To search our earlier archives, please click here" in the opening paragraph.

From here, type in the horse, rider, or owner name you want to search and click the SEARCH button. Your results will show any time that name appeared in our earliest database. We began archiving results in 1997.

- Can I tell who owns the horse?

Yes, the current owner is listed just under the horse's name. This is the current owner of record, not the owner of the horse in any year you might be searching in.

- How do I know who else was in the class?

By clicking on the name of the horse show, you can see the complete results from the horse show. Look down to the class and how tough the competition was in the class.

- Where else can I go from the show records?

You can also click on the rider's name in blue and see the rider's complete show record. Or go to the High Point REPORT category listed under each record to see where the horse ranks in that category.

- Why are some of the horse's names in the results in red?

We're glad you asked. We accumulate the sire, dam and damsire of each of the horses in our database for use in the Breeder's REPORT. If your horse's name is in red, please email us at highpoints@horseworld.net and give us your breeding information.

What I can learn . . .

- Are you buying a horse? Check to see how he's performed in the show ring so far.
- Do you need to verify where your horse has shown for your local or state high point program? Print out your complete show record.
- Where has your competition shown so far this year?

Where do I start?

In the left hand column, choose Check Show Records. Our database is divided into two segments – the year 2002 until now, and the period of time from 1997-2001. The current results search returns results from 2002 through the current year.

Type in the horse, rider or owner name you want to search. BE SURE to indicate if you are searching for a horse or a rider or an owner as these are maintained as separate data fields in the database.

The database will return any choices that seem to fit the criteria of your search. Find the entry you were looking for in the list and click on it to see his current year's show record. You will also see a list of any other years from 2002 through the present time period for which he has a show record. You can click on an individual year to look at or select ALL YEARS to see his complete show record from 2002 through the present.

Notice the tan box in the upper right corner. If this is a horse you search for often, you might consider adding it to your five favorites on your home page by selecting the box that says ADD TO YOUR HOME PAGE.
