

Bob Brison presented a top prospect (Fairview's Out For The Night) they just sold to Dawson Archibald.

Grayson is a sharp youngster by Leatherwood's My Kind Of Guy out of Roseridge's Summer Dust.

Ridgewood's First Promise is a promising prospect being readied by Brison.

A VISIT TO FAIRVIEW FARM

BY BOB FUNKHOUSER

After experiencing a horrific barn fire a couple of years ago, Bob and Tonya Brison have beautifully rebuilt and continue to train, sell, show, and breed many top stars from their New Bloomfield, Missouri, location. So much American Saddlebred history is located in this part of the country and the training couple continues that legacy for a number of clients.

On this Saturday morning visit several customers were out to tune up for the upcoming show season.

Chiefette is one of several bright prospects the Brisons are developing.

Ponies have been a part of the Fairview Farm string for the past several years. Dominique has joined the lineup of stars owned and shown by Amy Heuslein.

This curious group of yearlings are sired by (l-r) The Word Is Out, Fairview Marc My Words, Top Of The Mark and The Word Is Out.

Alan Wiedel and Vegas Jackpot were getting ready for the upcoming season.

Cheryl Maupin is greatly enjoying her first horse, Absolutely Allison.

Jayne Pearman and Watch For Ice were racking and trotting up a storm on this Saturday morning.

Brison was aboard Bill Heuslein's reserve world's champion gaited pleasure horse Uptown Funk.
