RIDING HAS TRULY TAUGHT ME more life lessons than I could ever put into words. One of the biggest lessons I have begun to appreciate more and more as I get older and move into the next phase of my life is the value of a strong support system who believes in you, even when you don't believe in yourself. The people you surround yourself with have such a lasting impact on your life and I've been so fortunate to have some of the absolute best people in mine!
